

Hi Roberto,

You were wonderful as usual, thank you for your visit. One of my students had an interesting comment after you left that I have to share with you. He didn't realize you were blind until the end of your presentation. He was amazed at how you looked at each person who was speaking to you and the way you moved around. I asked the boy, "What did you think the walking cane was for?" He responded that he thought you had it because you are old. Straight from the mouths of babes! Enjoy the notes they wrote you.

Fondly,

G

Dear Mr. Serrano,

Thank you so much for coming in! I learned a lot about Braille and the facts were interesting. For example it was very interesting when you showed us the Braille machine. Thank you for showing us how to use it. I thought it was a good idea to talk about Louis Braille and how he invented Braille. I didn't know W was the last Braille letter invented. It was fun learning how to read our names in Braille, I liked the way you taught us how. Thank you so much!

Sincerely,

A

Dear Mr. Serrano,

Thank you for coming in to our classroom. You taught me so much about Braille that I didn't even know! My name looked so different in Braille then in regular letters. It would be weird for me to try to be blind but for you, you must be used to not being able to see. How long have you been blind? Do you mind being unable to see? If you can't answer that question I understand. I'm just curious do you have a better sense of hearing, smell, and taste? If so what is your strongest sense?

Thanks again for coming in. It was so much fun!

Dear Mr. Serrano,

Thank you for coming in to teach us about the Braille system. I had a great time listening to you talk about how Braille works, and doing the activity where we got to figure out who's name we had on the paper. I learned how to read Braille and that Louis Braille did not invent the letter W because he was French and they don't use that letter. Once again thank you!

Sincerely,

D

Dear Mr. Serrano,

You were really interesting and now I memorized my name in Braille. I thought Braille would be more confusing than it really is. I was really surprised in how fast you read the letter you wrote us in Braille! When you walked through the door I thought you were just going to teach us about Braille, because I didn't know that people that are blind have their eyes open. Anyway just wanted to say thank you!

Sincerely,

J

Dear Mr. Serrano,

Thank you so much for coming in today to talk to us about the blind. I and pretty much everybody else loved it. We all thought it was cool that you mastered the Braille in just two weeks! Well thanks again!

From,

M

Dear Mr. Serrano,

Thank you for coming in and teaching us about Braille. It was really fun and I learned a lot. I loved spelling stuff in Braille, and I'm looking forward to learning all the letters so I can write letters. Thanks again- R

Dear Mr. Serrano,

Thank you so much for coming into our class and teaching us about the Braille alphabet. I really liked the trading game with the cards. I didn't know that Louis Braille never invented the letter W for Braille. Thanks again.

Sincerely,

L

Thank you Mr. Serrano for teaching us about Braille Alphabet

From: I

Thank you Mr. Serrano for coming in, you did a great job. I really liked your presentation. Have a great day!

Dear Mr. Serrano,

I'd like to thank you for coming in, and talking about Braille and blindness, and much more. I didn't know that the dots could stand for letters and numbers. I really enjoyed having you come in and talk about your job. Thank you

P

Dear Mr. Serrano,

Thank you for coming in and teaching us about Braille. We all now love trying to read it. I think the sheet. I think I will be able to read my whole name in Braille hopefully in the next week or two. Once again thank you for coming in and speaking to us. It was a lot of fun listening to you speak about being blind and reading Braille, Thank you

Dear Mr. Serrano,

Thank you so much for your visit to our classroom! I learned so much! Now every time I read a book or read words, I will always think of you and Braille! Thanks again!

Sincerely,

A

Dear Mr. Serrano,

Thank you for coming in to our class. I learned that when you type something it can be twice as long in Braille. I enjoyed learning the Braille alphabet and learning my name in Braille. The game where you decoded the Braille name was fun too! Thank you for teaching my class and I about Braille.

From: E

Dear Mr. Serrano,

Thank you for coming in to our classroom. I will always remember the time when we got to spell our names in Braille and the time you brought in the Braille machine. It was great having you come in and I will never forget it.

From,

O

Dear Mr. Serrano,

Thank you for visiting our class! I thought it was neat how you gave us our names in Braille. I learned that the Braille machine only has six keys, not including the space bar! I didn't know that there was a program where the computer talks to you. I also thought it was interesting how you taught at Brown University, like my dad sometimes does! Thanks again

M the Awesome

Dear Mr. Serrano,

Thank you for coming in! The presentation was awesome! It was cool learning about Braille! I never knew they have special software for the blind to be able to use computers, thanks for teaching us!

Sincerely,

N

Dear Mr. Serrano,

Thank you for coming in and teaching us about Braille and what you do. I learned how to read Braille now. The computer you get to use sounds cool! Now I know why you use a cane so you don't bump into things. Thank you again for coming in!

Sincerely,

C

Dear Mr. Serrano,

Thank you so much for coming in and talking to us about Braille. I thought that the typer was really cool! I think your very good at reading Braille and you make it look easy! Thanks again for coming in!

Sincerely,

A

Dear Mr. Serrano,

Thank you for teaching us about Braille. It was really interesting that Braille could do so much! I liked the trading game we did. I learned that the books in regular print are printed in Braille too. Thank you so much for your time.

Sincerely,

J

Dear Mr. Serrano,

Thank you for coming into our class and teaching us about Braille. And for coming here out of your own time to teach us. I think Braille is very interesting and cool. Braille is awesome! I also think it was so cool that you wrote our names in Braille for us to feel. Thank you again

Dear Mr. Serrano,

Thank you for coming in and spending your valuable time to teach us about Braille. Thank you so much you're the best!

Dear Mr. Serrano,

Thank you for coming in and teaching us about Braille, I thought it was very interesting! Also that machine was really cool!

Sincerely, N

Dear Mr. Serrano,

Thank you for teaching us Braille. I know how to use Braille now! Thank you!

AJ

Dear Mr. Serrano,

Thank you for coming in and telling us about Braille. My favorite part of your visit was when we got the cards with Braille on it and had to figure out who's name it was. It was so cool! It was also interesting when you showed us the Braille machine and typed with it. I have a question, When you work do people treat you differently because your blind? Well thank you again!

Sincerely, L
